ASSOCIATED PRESS REPORTS

TUESDAY, OCTOBER 3 1916

HUGHES OUGHT TO TALK OUT

Theodore Roosevelt went after President Wilson Saturday afternoon in a manner to rattle the president's bones.

Had Mr. Roosevelt been the candidate of the Republican party when he was speaking in Battle Creek, Mich., he would have won many thousands of supporters. We have never read such a speech and although it will be ridiculed and discounted by the Democrats, it remains as the most vigorous utterance of the campaign.

Mr. Roosevelt is criticizing the president for acts that Mr. Hughes dares not condemn him for. Mr. Roosevelt is outraged over the Lusitania murders; but Mr. Hughes, who is depending on the German-American vote, is afraid to speak out. The idea of a candidate for president allowing another to emphasize the issues of the campaign is novel in the United States, and Mr. Hughes, who cannot be smoked out, will not win votes on the strength of Mr. Roosevelt's appeals.

Mr. Hughes will content himself by denouncing the president's Mexican policy, the tariff and other measures, but he won't say what he would have done in regard to the Lusitania case. Frankly, we believe if Mr. Hughes had taken Roosevelt's stand at the outset, he would be overwhelmingly in the lead.

The American people know what Wilson has done, they know what Mr. Roosevelt says he would have done, but they don't know what Mr. Hughes will do. And the chances are that they will never know.

AFRAID OF WALL STREET

In a speech at Shadow Lawn Saturday afternoon, President Wilson told the country that success for the Republican party meant embroilment in the European war and intervention in Mexico. On Sunday he received thousands of telegrams congratulating him on his effort, which was one of the best political addresses he has made in the campaign. Mr. Wilson charged that the lieutenants of Mark Hanna, against which the great mass of the Republican party rebelled four years ago, are in full command, and he declared that a return of the Republicans to power would be a return to the government of Wall Street interests.

THREE LEADERS

Lord Lovelady and Silver Creek townships, Burke county, have demonstrated a spirit of progress that augurs well for those communities in future. By voting bonds for good roads the people have literally paved the way for the development of their communities along many lines, and their influence will extend beyond their boundaries. The action of these townships means that the Central highway, so long projected, will be a reality, for we are sure that Catawba township in Catawba county, the last section in the long link between Asheville to the east, will act favorably when the general election comes over.

Those who knew him—and Masons especially knew him—learned with sorrow of the death of John C. Drew, a well known insurance man and grand secretary of the North Carolina grand lodge of Masons. Mr. Drew worked for the good of the order and he was appreciated by members of the grand lodge.

Everything is about ready for the Catawba County Fair, to be held for the first time in its own grounds, and it is to be hoped that everybody will cooperate to make it a success. The fair grounds will be thrown open three weeks from today.

Dollar Day will be celebrated in Hickory, October 12, and it is important to be here by 9 o'clock in the morning, when the stores will open for Dollar business.

It is only a question of time until Greece admits that it is in the war, but if the king doesn't hurry a bit, the Allies will have enlisted with the

FOREST SRUVIVAL

The forest is a distinct plant society, in which the struggle for light and nourishment causes the suppression of 5 per cent of the members by the time maturity is reached. Henry G. Graves, United States forester, adds that the differentiation into dominant and suppressed trees takes place particularly in youth; and in some forest the deaths of trees between the ages of 20 and 80 are more than 4,000 per acre, while only 300 die between 80 and 100. This natural dying out, however, varies greatly. In pine, birch, aspen, and all species demanding much light, the death rate is enormous; but in spruce, beech, fir and others satisfied with less light, the process is less energetic. The individual tree in a spruce forest requires four square feet of space at 20 years; 34 at 40; 70 at 60; 110 at 80 and 150 at 100. If the space required by a pine at 20 years of 40 to 50 be taken as 100, that for spruce at the same age will be 87, for beech 79, and for fir 63. This same struggle tends to a natural selection as only the strong trees reproduce themselves. If a forest of trees of equal age be divided into classes by height and crown development, the ratio of seed production will be 100, 88, 33, 0.5, and 0—the fifth class producing not a single seed.

LABOR LEADERS ADMIT STRIKE IS A FAILURE

New York, Sept. 3.—Tacit admission of the failure of the "general" sympathetic strike in New York in behalf of the striking street carmen was made in a report late yesterday to a conference of labor leaders, which discussed the general situation. The leaders recommended that every union member of the city be assessed

$1 for the benefit of the subway, elevated and surface car employees who are on strike in Manhattan, the Bronx and parts of Westchester county. Police headquarters announced that a canvass made by policemen showed that only 408 men had responded to the call for a general strike.

El Paso, Tex., Oct. 3.—The second and third regiments of infantry, North Carolina national guard, arrived here Monday. With the first regiment, cavalry, ambulance and hospital units which arrived last week, the North Carolina contingent of the troops recently ordered to the border is complete.

South Carolina guardsmen are participating in a practice march of the tenth provisional division to Fort Selden, N. M., 60 miles north of here, which started yesterday. The division comprises 18,000 troops and the "hike" will consume 15 days.

For the person who wants to get ahead, now is the golden opportunity, and every thoughtful person will see the wisdom of laying by something for the rainy day that always comes.

The young man who wastes the best earning period of his life without getting a start is handicapped throughout his life, while a little capital laid by in times of prosperity like these will help him over many a tight place.

The easiest and safest way to save money is to open a bank account, spend a little less than you make, and keep adding to your balance until an opportunity for investment comes.
